1. Matt Alfs, architect from BuildingWork, gave an update of the library project. His team is preparing for the initial Planning Commission review on February 18, 2020 at 6 PM. The review will focus on the exterior of the building and how it complies with the Morris Street Historical District. He also hopes to allowed a demolition permit at that time.
 - a. Matt spoke of the design evolution of the library and it two stack concept. Much discussion of how the interior will be laid out but that the interior design is secondary to getting the exterior approved first. Matt stated that the initial plan was for an ivory color for the exterior and red trim. Discussed how the current location of the meeting room could be changed.
 - b. Parking is a problem with only 9 spaces. But a mitigation plan is available.
